The Learning/Access Center is available to Pratt students, confidentially, with additional resources and information to facilitate full access to all campus programs and activities and provide support related to any other disability- related matters, and is located in the ISC Building, Room 104.

Security personnel, located at a booth inside the main gate at 200 Willoughby Avenue, are also available to assist visitors with directions, locating accessible routes, or providing any other assistance in navigating the campus grounds.

Center for Equity and Inclusion

The Center for Equity and Inclusion (CEI) supports all individuals regardless of their background or social identity and serves to empower students to engage with each other and unite around social justice matters that directly affect our campus and community.

Title IX

It is the policy of Pratt Institute to comply with Title IX of the Education Amendments of 1972, which prohibits discrimination (including sexual harassment and sexual violence) based on sex in the Institute's educational programs and activities. Pratt Institute Accessibility, Equity and Inclusion

Learning/Access Center

Pratt Institute is committed to the full inclusion of all students. If you are a student with a disability and require accommodations, please contact the Learning/Access Center (L/AC) at LAC@pratt.edu to schedule an appointment to discuss these accommodations. Students with disabilities who have already registered with the L/AC are encouraged to speak to the professor about accommodations they may need to produce an accessible learning environment.

Accessibility

The Pratt campus and many of its buildings are historic in nature and thus not all spaces on campus are readily accessible and the accessibility of certain buildings and spaces on campus may not be immediately apparent to campus visitors. However all programs, services and activities will be accessible and Pratt will accommodate any individuals with a disability who wish to avail themselves of any of its programs or activities.

To facilitate ease of access to all programs and activities, you have the option to indicate if you require an accessible space, have any mobility restrictions (e.g. inability/difficulty navigating stairs), or have any similar considerations or concerns, when registering in advance or scheduling an appointment for any program or activity on campus. Appropriate measures will then be taken to ensure that the relevant programs or activities are readily accessible with the least amount of delay or inconvenience to you.

Students should contact the Learning/Access Center at LAC@pratt.edu in advance, according to the procedures for requesting accommodations established by the Learning/Access Center. Requests for accommodation should

May I copy software that is available through facilities on campus, so that I can use it more conveniently at home?
Software acquired by colleges and universities is usually licensed. The licenses restrict how and where the software may be legally used by members of the community. This applies to software distributed on hard discs in microcomputer clusters, software distributed on discs by a computer lending library, and software available on a campus mainframe or network. Some institutional licenses permit copying for certain purposes. Consult your campus authorities if you are unsure about the use of a particular software product.

Isn't it legally "fair use" to copy software if the purpose in sharing it is purely educational?

No. It is illegal for a faculty member or student to copy software for distribution among the members of a class, without permission of the author or publisher.

Personal Conduct

Anyone displaying disruptive behavior will be required to leave the studio, and will risk losing their studio access.

Anyone found damaging, removing or reconfiguring DDA studio equipment will lose DDA studio access and face disciplinary action.

The duplication of copyrighted software or other materials is unlawful, unethical, and will not be permitted. Copyright infringement is a serious offense. Offenders will be prosecuted to the full extent of the law and face dismissal from the Institute.

The exhibiting or distributing of illegal, hazardous or grossly offensive material via computer network, online, or any other media is prohibited. Offenders will be prosecuted and face dismissal.

Student Employment in DDAGraduate Assistantships

Current and incoming graduate students may apply for graduate assistantships. These are paid positions for which the salaries are generally applied toward the student's tuition. A graduate assistant may be assigned to work as a DDA office assistant, a faculty assistant or given a position in the Imaging Center. Interested students should complete

DDA General PoliciesDIGITAL COPYRIGHT & INTELLECTUAL PROPERTY PROTECTION

It is the policy of DDA and Pratt to emphasize respect for the creative works of others. Appropriate use of the Internet and digital storage media is expected. Protection technologies such as watermarking and encryption are supported and to be respected.

Infringement occurs when a substantial part of the work is copied, made available to others, or adapted into a new form without permission. Images, text, logos, software, sounds, film/video clips, email, postings to newsgroups, and other works distributed electronically are protected by copyright. DDA does not condone copyright infringement. Disciplinary action will be taken if violated.

Questions you may have concerning software:

What do I need to know about software and the US Copyright Act?

Unless it has been placed in the public domain, software is protected by copyright law. The owner of a copyright holds exclusive rights to the reproduction and distribution of his/her work. Therefore, it is illegal to duplicate or distribute software or its documentation without the permission of the copyright owner. However, if you have purchased your copy, you may make a back-up for your own use in case the original is destroyed or fails to work.

Can I loan software I have purchased myself?

If your software came with a clearly visible license agreement or if you signed a registration card, READ THE TERMS OF THE LICENSE FOR FURTHER INFORMATION.

If software is not copy-protected, do I have the right to copy it?

Lack of copy-protection does not constitute permission to copy software in order to share or sell it. Non-copy-protected software enables you to protect your investment by making a back-up copy. In offering non-copy-protected software to you the developer or publisher has demonstrated significant trust in your integrity.

The Thesis Requirements document applies to all regulations and procedures related to DDA606A and DDA 606B Graduate Seminar, DDA660A and DDA660C Thesis, and DDA700 Thesis-In-Progress.

This document should be read in conjunction with the latest version of the Library Guidelines, available online (<http://libguides.pratt.edu/thesisguide>) or at the Pratt Library on Pratt's Brooklyn Campus. Questions concerning organization and formatting of materials should be discussed with the Information/Reference department of the Pratt Library.

- The term Thesis is defined as the execution of the approved Thesis Project Proposal.

PART I: Graduate Seminar II (Thesis Research)

The purpose of Graduate Seminar II (Thesis Research) is to help MFA candidates select a topic for their Thesis, and to plan and propose its implementation.

The selection of a topic involves analysis of the candidate's own interests, strengths, experiences, historical precedents, current trends within the digital arts and professional and artistic goals.

A one-page abstract of the thesis proposal must be delivered to members of the Thesis Committee at least one (1) week prior to public Graduate Seminar II presentations.

Thesis proposals must be presented in a professional manner and clearly communicate the scope of the proposed project with the following components:

- production plan and materials lists

pre-visualization in the form of maquettes, installation drawings, sketches, prints, storyboards, animatics, interface designs, and/or technology prototypes

1.0 Criteria for Approval of Thesis Project Proposal

Thesis projects must demonstrate originality and creativity in both content and presentation. Topics must represent a significant exploration of concepts and techniques in your discipline.

Proposals will be evaluated on visual sophistication, discipline, significance, feasibility, artistic merit, critical reflection and professionalism.

1.1 Academic Integrity Standards

At Pratt, students, faculty, and staff do creative and original work. This is one of our community values. For Pratt to be a space where everyone can freely create, our community must adhere to the highest standards of academic integrity.

Academic integrity at Pratt means using your own and original ideas in creating academic work. It also means that if you use the ideas or influence of others in your work, you must acknowledge them.

At Pratt,

- We do our own work,
- We are creative, and
- We give credit where it is due.

Based on our value of academic integrity, Pratt has an Academic Integrity Standing Committee (AISC) that is charged with educating faculty, staff, and students about academic integrity practices. Whenever possible, we strive to resolve alleged infractions at the most local level possible, such as between student and professor, or within a department or school. When necessary, members of this committee will form an Academic Integrity Hearing Board. Such boards may hear cases regarding cheating, plagiarism, and other infractions described below; these infractions can be grounds for citation, sanction, or dismissal.

Academic Integrity Code

When students submit any work for academic credit, they make an implicit claim that the work is wholly their own, completed without the assistance of any unauthorized person. These works include, but are not limited to exams, quizzes, presentations, papers, projects, studio work, and other assignments and assessments. In addition, no student shall prevent another student from making their work. Students may study, collaborate and work together on assignments at the discretion of the instructor.

Examples of infractions include but are not limited to:

- 1) Plagiarism, defined as using the exact language or a close paraphrase of someone else's ideas without citation.
- 2) Violations of fair use, including the unauthorized and uncited use of another's artworks, images, designs, etc.
- 3) The supplying or receiving of completed work including papers, projects, outlines, artworks, designs, prototypes, models, or research for submission by any person other than the author.
- 4) The unauthorized submission of the same or essentially the same piece of work for credit in two different classes.
- 5) The unauthorized supplying or receiving of information about the form or content of an examination.
- 6) The supplying or receiving of partial or complete answers, or suggestions for answers; or the supplying or receiving of assistance in interpretation of questions on any examination from any source not explicitly authorized. (This includes copying or reading of another student's work or consultation of notes or other sources during an examination.)

For academic support, students are encouraged to seek assistance from the Writing and Tutorial Center, Pratt Libraries, or consult with an academic advisor about other support resources.

1.2 Citing Sources/Digital Plagiarism

It is possible to refer to another person's work and not plagiarize. For example, if you use an illustration from a book or website, it is acceptable as long as you clearly cite the author and source of the illustration. Using text from a book or website is acceptable, as long as you:

- a) clearly indicate the author and source of the text
- b) present the text as either a long or short quotation. For guidelines on the proper use of text and quotes, see the "Sample Thesis Document", available from your Thesis Advisor.

If you use someone else's work and do not indicate the source, you are implying that you did the work yourself. This is dishonest, and it is plagiarism.

Clear examples of plagiarism include:

- using a 3d model or animation sequence developed by someone else and not crediting the original artist(s)
- quoting text from a book or website and not citing the source
- using an illustration and not citing the original artist
- engaging another student in the production of your project without indicating their contributions in your production credits
- using a piece of music composed by someone else and not citing the original composer
- using programming code for an effect or process which was written by someone else and not citing the source of that code

Some forms of plagiarism are harder to define. If you use a set of ideas developed by someone else and reshape them for use in your own work, you must still credit the originator of those ideas. For example, if you create an animation based on an existing story, you must acknowledge this in production credits. An example of appropriate credit may appear in this form: “Based on the novel by James Joyce”.

Collaboration with other Pratt students is encouraged and does not constitute plagiarism as long as all contributors are properly credited.

If you are in doubt as to whether something constitutes plagiarism, speak to your Thesis Advisor before you proceed.

In addition to citing the source of borrowed content for use in your Thesis proposal, if borrowed content appears in your finished Thesis in audio or visual form, you must first obtain written permission from the copyright owner in order to use such content. Documentation of this permission must be included in the finished paper. The Institute policy on this issue is as follows:

Digital Copyright and Intellectual Property Protection

It is the policy of DDA and Pratt Institute to promote respect for the creative works of others. Infringement takes place when a substantial part of a work is copied, made available to others, or adapted into a new form without the permission of the creator. Images, text, logos, software, sounds, film/video clips, email, postings to newsgroups, and other works distributed electronically are protected by copyright, just as they are in traditional media. Protection technologies such as watermarking and encryption are supported and must be respected. DDA does not condone copyright infringement and disciplinary action will be taken if this policy is violated.

1.3 Thesis Proposal Approval Procedure

Middle of 2nd Semester : Grad Open Studios - (Required, All MFA)

- Each Seminar II student is required to invite 4 faculty members to their studio for review of their Thesis project ideas.

During 2nd Semester : Outside Review by Visiting Artist - (Required, All MFA)

End of 2nd Semester : Thesis Committee Review - (Required, All MFA)

Public Presentation to Thesis Committee, Pratt faculty and Peers:

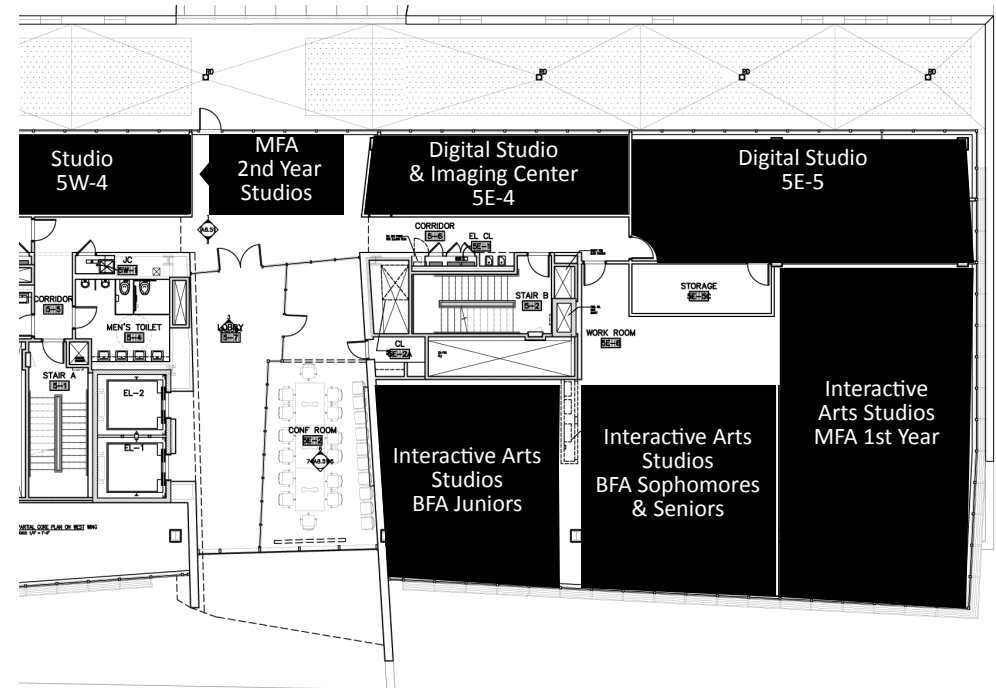

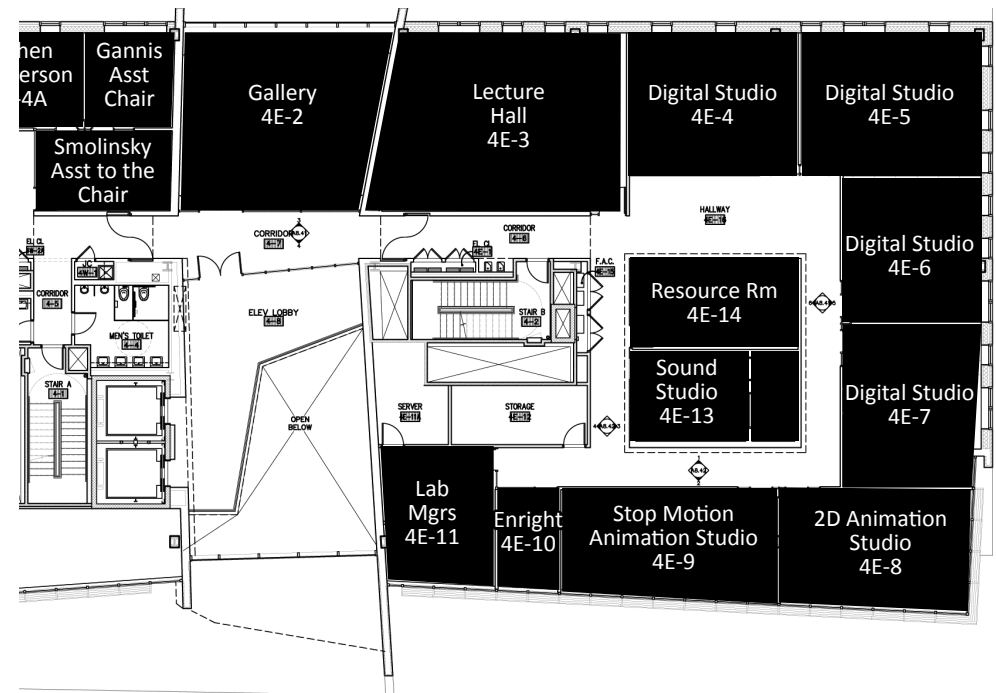

- Student presents a body of work to demonstrate proficiency
- Student presents proposal for Thesis study
- What question(s) are you asking?
- Written Proposal
- After presentation students pass into Thesis I

After the Thesis Committee evaluates a student's Thesis Proposal, the student will move into Thesis I and they will receive a letter from their Graduate Seminar II Advisor noting what, if any, aspects of their proposal need improvement or reconsideration.

PART II: ADVANCING TO THESIS

2.0 Finding a Thesis Advisor

The members of the full time faculty constitute the pool of potential DDA Thesis Advisors. When a Thesis Candidate is approved to advance into Thesis, the candidate is required to find a suitable Thesis Advisor

DDA Facilities

Digital Arts studios and equipment are used by over 250 majors, 100 non-majors, and approximately 50 faculty members. If you have a technical problem or a concern regarding the DDA facility, email ddahelp@pratt.edu and Studio Management will respond.

among those scheduled to conduct Thesis I. Thesis candidates must approach the Thesis Advisor of their preference and request permission to undertake the Thesis process with this Advisor. Confirmation of the advisor's approval must be sent via email from the Thesis Advisor to the department Chair and Assistant Chair for registration approval. If a successful Thesis candidate and Advisor pairing is not reached through this process, an Advisor will be assigned to the student by the department Chair. Please note that each Thesis Advisor has a maximum limit of 9 Thesis Advisees (including TIP Advisees).*

Continuation with the same advisor is expected throughout the Thesis process. Students who wish to change advisors must consult with their current advisor and make a special request to the Chairperson. Such changes will generally not be permitted except in special circumstances as determined by the Chairperson.

2.1 Digital Studio Assignments

MFA Imaging and Interactive students will be granted a Digital Arts studio on the 5th floor for 2 years (4 semesters). Depending on availability, MFA Animation students may apply for studios on an as need basis.

PART III: THESIS

3.0 Submitting Drafts of the Thesis Paper

See instructor guidelines for submission dates.

3.1 Submitting Completed Thesis Project and Paper for Approval

Thesis students must submit their completed thesis project and paper and receive approval, indicated by signature of the Advisor and the Chairperson.

Please speak with your Thesis advisor for submission deadlines of your thesis project.

The deadlines for submitting Thesis papers and all Deliverables to the department are:

The fourth week of April for May graduates.
The second week of December for February graduates.

Exact submission days, times and locations within these designated weeks will be announced by the department each semester.

Important Notes:

1 – Since all department deadlines must be strictly observed, your Advisor may assign you additional deadlines prior to the department deadlines in order to ensure that your visual project, papers and supporting materials have all been properly prepared. Please consult with your Thesis Advisor.

2 – The Thesis Advisor must approve and sign both copies of a completed thesis paper before it is to be signed by the Chairperson. Thesis students are personally responsible for the delivery of materials to each signatory, allowing a total of two weeks for review by each party. Extra time should be allotted for final corrections.

3 – Theses submitted for signatures without sufficient time allotted to meet the Library deadline, or theses presented without all required materials may not be considered and may be returned unsigned.

4 – Thesis advisors are not available for summer submissions.

5 – Thesis candidates must not presume that their Thesis Advisor will approve their thesis paper upon submission. Most thesis papers are not approved the first time they are submitted. Thesis Candidates should plan for several revisions to their paper before receiving final approval from their Thesis Advisor.

3.2 Library Deadlines

When the above requirements have been met, the Thesis is ready to be delivered to the Library by the following deadlines:

January 15 for February graduates (Fall semester)
June 1 for May graduates (Spring semester)

Note: There is a September 15 deadline listed by the Library that does not apply to DDA students. DDA Thesis Candidates are not permitted to graduate in October.*

3.3 Components of a Thesis

Theses submitted to the Library and to the DDA Resource Center must contain the written document, the visual project and all additional materials specified below. Students who have not completed all components of the thesis and submitted these materials for archiving to the Library and the DDA will not receive their degrees.

3.4 Format of the Written Document

The written document must be:

- Unbound and printed on 8½"x11" watermarked, acid-free, minimum 20-lb. weight white paper for preservation purposes.
- Only letter quality printouts with a minimum of 300 dpi/ppi resolution are acceptable. All images and illustrations accompanying the written document (not the visual project) must be in color and may be mounted or printed on the same paper used for the thesis document.
- Each page must have a one (1) inch margin on all sides to allow for binding.
- On the signature page, the space above the signature line should be at least ¾" high.
- Underlined text is not acceptable; italic or bold text should be employed instead.
- The first paragraph of each chapter or section should not be indented.

The Graduate Theses section on the Pratt Institute Libraries website should be consulted for further details: http://library.pratt.edu/services/student_services/#GraduateTheses

For reference, please obtain a copy of a properly formatted "Sample Thesis Document", available from your Thesis Advisor.

3.5 Contents of the Written Document

The final Thesis Paper is an extension of the Research Report and Thesis Proposal, and should document both technical and aesthetic processes and discoveries. Since technique is an important component of this MFA program, technical issues must be properly documented in all theses.

Thesis students must document their research in an articulate, original, and artistic manner. Technical innovations and discoveries should be explained in detail so that others in our community may benefit from them.

Faculty Advisement

All faculty list their respective office hours for student advisement in the course syllabus. Students should feel free to approach all DDA faculty members regarding academic and professional advisement.

Add/Drop

After the initial registration, students may Add or Drop classes. Refer to the Academic Calendar for important deadlines pertaining to registration and tuition fees. The complete Academic Calendar is available on the Pratt Institute website, www.pratt.edu.

Students can access their financial information by using www.pratt.edu/mypratt.

The Bursar's office is responsible for the accurate billing of all student related charges, including but not limited to tuition, fees, housing, meal plan and others.

DDA Email Lists

Pratt Institute and the Department of Digital Arts make important and timely notifications via email. All DDA students and faculty are required to provide an active Pratt Gmail address to the DDA Office.

With Pratt Gmail, your email is stored safely in the cloud where you can get to it from any computer or device with a web browser or app. You can also organize and find important email, add your signature to any email you send, also read and draft email when you're offline.

The Department of Digital Arts sends out four DDA-Announces per week. They include: Upcoming Events (Mondays), Student/Faculty/Staff Recognitions (Tuesdays), Jobs/Internships (Thursdays) and Festivals, Contests & Opportunities (Fridays).

Academic Planning

Your Pratt email is automatically subscribed to all newsletters. If you find you are not receiving certain announcements please contact: ysmolins@pratt.edu.

With www.pratt.edu/mypratt, all Pratt students can view their degree audits, class schedules, and financial information, as well as create a course plan each semester.

To access your information on my.pratt.edu using your OneKey login. If you need help determining your login name or password or have trouble accessing a particular system, check the help topics at <https://www.pratt.edu/student-life/student-services/prattcard/prattcard-faq/> or contact Pratt's Help Desk at: services@pratt.edu.

Academic Advisement

Each semester, MFA students in the Department of Digital Arts meet with Academic Advisors Chair Peter Patchen and Assistant Chair Carla Gannis to review and approve their course plans.

The Academic advisors meets individually with graduate students during Pre-Registration periods to provide counsel on digital arts courses, studio electives and all MFA academic requirements. Pre-Registration advisement occurs approximately four to six weeks before the end of (November -December during Fall term, March-April during Spring term).

MFA students can view their advisement appointment dates on their degree audit by using www.pratt.edu/mypratt.

Please note: Graduate Seminar II and Thesis Advisors are responsible for advisement, not for proofreading or text correction. Graduate Seminar II and Thesis students must possess sufficient command of the English language in order to execute their paper. It is the responsibility of the student to engage the assistance of a qualified proofreader in order to compose a graduate-level paper.

Pratt Institute's Writing and Tutorial Center (WTC) is located on the first floor of North Hall, and is a highly recommended resource for reviewing papers. While the Writing Center cannot offer extensive, detailed assistance, it is very helpful in improving initial drafts.

3.6 Format of the Visual Project

All time-based projects (animation, video, motion arts, as well as documentation of all interactive works) must be executed using the accepted settings outlined below and utilize the standard opening and/or closing credits provided by the Department of Digital Arts.

a. Total Run Time. The total run time (TRT) for all time-based projects must not exceed four (4) minutes. In order to exceed this running time, permission must be obtained from the Thesis Advisor. Any project exceeding 4 minutes must include either a trailer or a short film version.

PART IV: THE THESIS PROCESS

4.0 The Thesis Process Schedule

Please note that all MFA candidates must complete DDA606B Graduate Seminar II before they may enroll in Thesis.

Semester	Class	Credits	Status
1 ST and 2 ND	DDA606A & 606B Graduate Seminars	3 Credits	Full-time
3 rd	DDA660A Thesis I	6 Credits	Full-time
4 th	DDA660C Thesis II	6 Credits	Full-time
If a project does not represent a graduate level of achievement or if the thesis is not finished in Thesis II, the student may move into TIP (Thesis in Progress) if sufficient progress is demonstrated. TIP may be repeated only once. If the project is still not of terminal degree quality by the end of the second TIP, the thesis is considered failed and the student does not graduate.
*5 th	DDA700 Thesis-In-Progress	0 Credits	Full-time

In order to remain in good standing, Thesis students must fulfill all obligations to their advisor, such as attending all scheduled advisement meetings, critiques and demonstrating progress. All students will be required to present their progress to a select committee or for public review at the end of DDA660A Thesis I, DDA660C Thesis II, and DDA700 Thesis In-Progress.

The Thesis Advisor assigns the grades for thesis candidates. However, it is the Thesis Committee, not the Thesis Advisor, who determines whether a thesis project meets the standards of the Department and is finished.

Pratt Institute permits individual departments to set their own criteria and timetables for thesis completion. The Department of Digital Arts expects all MFA students to complete their thesis projects, including all related materials, by the end of Thesis II. Anyone who is required to undertake thesis for a second time must re-submit his or her thesis proposal and gain re-approval for advancement into Thesis.

4.1 Thesis-In-Progress Status (TIP)

If at the end of Thesis II, completion of the thesis is pending, students receive an In-Progress (IP) designation at the end of the term. Note: Students registered as TIP in the Spring semester will be considered as continuously registered through the Summer.

4.2 Thesis-In-Progress Policies

TIP students must set an agreed meeting schedule with their advisors and must demonstrate progress to the satisfaction of the Thesis Committee. As noted in Section 3.0, all Thesis In-Progress students must present their project to the Thesis Committee at the end of each semester of the Thesis process.

Students who do not fulfill these requirements will lose their IP status. If they wish to complete their thesis and earn their degree, they will be required to repeat the entire thesis process from the beginning.

4.4 Thesis And TIP Grading Policy

All Thesis students will receive a letter grade for DDA 660A Thesis I.

DDA 660C Thesis II and Thesis In Progress are graded 'IP' until the Thesis advisor assigns a final grade upon completion of the Thesis project.

Clearly label all of your drives with a permanent marker or tag.
